

The 134th Annual Convention

February 7, 2026

Nominees for Election

Standing Committee

The Standing Committee is composed of three members of the clergy and three members of the laity. It acts as a Council of Advice to the Bishop and assumes many Episcopal duties for the diocese if there is a vacancy in the Bishop's Office, as outlined in the Diocesan Constitution Article XV, Diocesan Canon V and in the Canons of The Episcopal Church.

Clergy Nominees, one to be elected.

The Rev. Liam Muller, Good Shepherd, McKenney & St. Luke's, Blackstone

Greetings! My Name is Liam Muller and I am a priest in the diocese, serving the parishes of St. Luke's in Blackstone and Good Shepherd in McKenney. My wife and I arrived in beautiful Southside Virginia in January, 2021. Previously, I have served parishes in Rutland, Vermont and Mitchell, South Dakota, where I was ordained to the priesthood on September 16th, 2006. In the past I have served the Diocese of Southern Virginia on the Executive Council and on the Disciplinary Committee. I've also served on Diocesan committees in both the Diocese of Vermont and the Diocese of South Dakota. I am interested in serving on the Standing Committee as it would be another opportunity and way to serve the church and this diocese. I believe my experiences in ministry and life have equipped me to be able to undertake this position, should it be the will of God and God's people that I do so.

Lay Nominees, one to be elected.

Mr. Justin Criner, St. David's, North Chesterfield

Justin Criner became a member of the Episcopal Church in 2019. He was raised in an independent Baptist congregation in a small town in central Appalachia, where faith was deeply embedded in community life. Growing up in a region profoundly shaped by both devotion and the devastation of addiction, Justin witnessed the deep suffering of many faithful families. These experiences did not extinguish his faith, but led him, for a time, to step away from active church participation. Upon leaving home, Justin earned a B.A. in Political Science from Virginia Commonwealth University and a Juris Doctor from the Appalachian School of Law. During law school, he served on the Law Journal and was elected president of the local Lions Club, where he oversaw fundraising, membership development, and community service initiatives. While he continued to engage in independent spiritual study, he did not return to regular worship during this period either. After law school, Justin was admitted to the West Virginia Bar and practiced law in Charleston, West Virginia, before later joining the Virginia Bar and relocating to Northern Virginia. In 2018, he and his wife returned to the Richmond area, where he became a partner in a small litigation firm. Seeking to provide their daughter with the opportunity to form her own relationship with Christ, the Criner family began attending St. David's Episcopal Church in January 2019, where Justin found a renewed sense of vocation and commitment to the Church. Justin has since served St. David's in several leadership roles. He was a member of the parish Finance Committee for two years and served on the Vestry from 2022 to 2024 as Chair of Stewardship. In that role, he led multiple pledge campaigns, coordinated ministry fairs, and supported special projects including the installation of a Little Free Library and the establishment of a food pantry. He also initiated a comprehensive update of St. David's policies and procedures manual. Justin is currently pursuing a degree in Theology, with an anticipated completion date of winter 2026. Having completed his vestry service, Justin is discerning how best to continue offering his experience in governance, law, and collaborative leadership in service to the broader Church. He believes the work of the Standing Committee aligns closely with his professional background in statutory interpretation, complex problem-solving, and confidential advisory work, and calls for careful listening, thoughtful discernment, and faithful stewardship of the Church's canons. Justin would be honored to serve the Church as a lay member of the Standing Committee.

Disciplinary Board

The Disciplinary Board is composed of nine members elected for three-year terms, five members of the clergy and four lay persons. The Board, defined in Canon XXII of Diocesan Canons, serves as the trial body for any member of the clergy charged under Title IV of the Canons of The Episcopal Church.

Clergy Nominees, two to be elected.

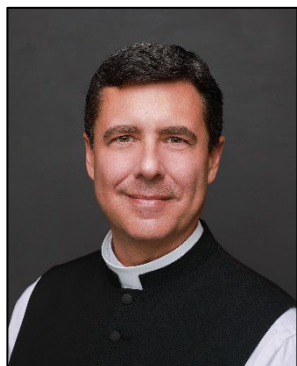

The Rev. Stephen Batten, Hungars, Bridgetown & Christ Church, Eastville

I grew up in a small Episcopal parish in northeastern NC (Advent, Williamston) going to college at Duke and then in a fit of fear, went to law school and passed the NC bar in 1993. I worked primarily in trust & estates litigation, business-related immigration law, and asylum/refugee cases pro bono and for non-profits. In 2012, I was finishing my last year of EfM in Washington NC when I was asked to join the Nomination & Search committee for the VIII Bishop of East Carolina. I was admitted to postulancy by The Rt. Rev'd Peter Lee (retired, Virginia) acting as Bishop Provisional of East Carolina and received a MDiv from VTS in 2018. The Rt. Rev'd Rob Skirving, Bishop Diocesan, ordained me deacon and priest that same year and I was appointed to serve at Trinity Episcopal Church first as deacon-in-charge, and then by election as rector in 2020. I was fortunate enough to be called to Hungars Cure Parish as its fifty-fourth rector in September 2024. I served on various Boards and Committees of the Diocese of East Carolina prior to and after seminary: Executive Council (2020-2024); Deputy to the 80th General Convention of The Episcopal Church in Baltimore, Worship & Liturgy Committee (2020-2024), and chaired the Committee on Constitution and Canons (2022-2024). I also served five years on the Board of the National Episcopal Aids Coalition (NEAC), the last two years as Secretary. In my prayers, a Disciplinary Board would never meet but should it meet, I would hope to bring compassion, discernment, and adherence to process for the good of all.

The Rev. Shawn Malarkey, Eastern Shore Chapel, Virginia Beach

As a newer priest to the Diocese, I've been looking for an way to assist the broader local church outside of the parish context. Serving as a member of the Disciplinary Board seems like a good opportunity to do so in a way that utilizes my previous experience. As a former Canon to the Ordinary in Pittsburgh, I was able to participate in specialized Title IV training offered by Province III and also had practical experience in the Title IV process. I served multiple terms on the Constitution and Canons Committee of my previous diocese and sat on multiple governing bodies there as Canon.

Lay Nominees, one to be elected.

Ms. Bettie Swain, St. Mark's Suffolk

My name is Bettie Ann Johnson Swain, and I am a lifelong resident of Suffolk, Virginia. I seek to fulfill the lay position on the Disciplinary Board for the Diocese of Southern Virginia. My background includes working with regulatory guidelines and compliance in the public sector, as well as familiarity with canonical regulations for clergy. I am eager to offer my service in this role if needed. Recently, I completed training with the Diocesan Church Development Institute (DCDI) and feel confident that I can contribute a fair and balanced perspective to the Disciplinary Board. I would welcome the opportunity to serve as part of the Disciplinary Board, if selected to do so. I hold degrees in Elementary Education and Administration from Norfolk State University and Old Dominion University, along with additional coursework from the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia; Regent University in Virginia Beach, Virginia; and Tidewater Community College- Portsmouth campus. My career spans more than 40 years as a teacher, administrator, and grants coordinator with Suffolk Public Schools, and later as an independent contractor for the Virginia Department of Education. Currently, I am the parish administrator at St. Cyprian's Episcopal Church in Hampton and serve as church treasurer at St. Mark's Episcopal in Suffolk. With a passion for service, I am active in professional and community organizations, including Suffolk (VA) Chapter of The Links, Incorporated, National Council of Negro Women (NCNW), Zeta Epsilon Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, Women's Impact Fund-Suffolk Education Foundation, and Suffolk (VA) Sister Cities, Incorporated. Additionally, I serve on the Episcopal Diocesan Proposed Budget and Review Committee. I am the mother of one daughter, Dr. Nekita K. Swain, and grandmother of a twelve-year-old, SeanPreston A. Foster. In my free time, I enjoy traveling, reading, and shopping.

Provincial Synod

Our Diocese has three deputies to Provincial Synod (one cleric and two lay persons) who serve three-year terms. They are responsible to the Bishop and the Executive Board and report to the Board following Synod meetings. One of these deputies is also appointed by the bishop to serve a three-year term on the Provincial Council.

Lay Nominees, one to be elected.

Mr. Zach Tabor, Old Donation, Virginia Beach

I started getting very involved with church only about four years ago, but a lot has happened in that four years. I was at St Francis in Virginia Beach at the time, and I joined choir and vestry and became the Finance Chair. I worked with the Senior Warden to help repair the deteriorated financial administration in the parish. I attended Thrive DCDI during that time, and, as my project for that program, I participated and helped lead a small Prayer and Worship team that met regularly to continually improve the prayer and worship life of the parish. During our transition period at St Francis, Bishop Susan graciously granted me a license to lead Morning Prayer and to preach, and I filled in Sundays on which we did not have a supply priest by leading Morning Prayer with sermon. I completed Thrive DCDI and discerned moving my spiritual home to Old Donation. I enrolled in Thrive DCDI a second time. I have participated in a leadership conference at Old Donation and have led adult forum sessions. I am currently in discernment with The Companions of St Luke, a dispersed Benedictine monastic order. I have prayed Morning Prayer daily for years (with some brief periods of inconsistency). I have familiarized myself informally with Episcopal Church governance. I have tried my best to keep up with diocesan affairs, and it would be a great honor, if appropriate, for me to serve as a lay delegate from our diocese to the Provincial Synod.

The General Convention of The Episcopal Church

Our Diocese has four clergy and four lay deputies, and four clergy and four lay alternate deputies. At this Convention we will elect the deputies. Alternates will be elected at the 2027 Annual Convention. Deputies will attend the 82nd General Convention, July 3-8, 2027, in Phoenix, Arizona. Deputies are not elected to represent the views of their diocese or constituency, but should reflect the will of the whole Church, act for the whole Church, and speak to the whole Church.

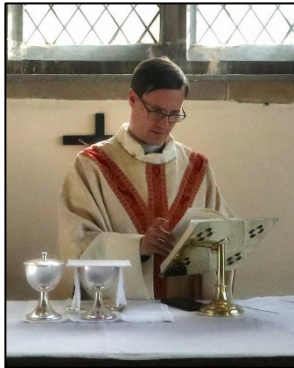

Clergy Nominees, four to be elected.

The Very Rev. Jennifer Andrews-Weckerly, Hickory Neck, Toano

The Very Rev. Jennifer Andrews-Weckerly has been the rector of Hickory Neck, Toano, just outside of Williamsburg since April 2016. Within the Diocese, she served as the chair of the College Ministries Commission through 2019, a Clergy Alternate to General Convention in 2018, a Clergy Deputy to General Convention in 2022 and 2024, Dean of Convocation V since 2023, and a clergy mentor for clergy new to the Diocese. In James City County, she served on the Workforce Housing Task Force, is a graduate of the LEAD program through the Greater Williamsburg Chamber and Tourism Alliance, and was a “star” in Dancing with the Williamsburg Stars in 2025. Jennifer was elected to the Alumni Association Executive Council at Virginia Theological Seminary for four years, serving as both President and Vice President. Prior to coming to the Diocese of Southern Virginia, she served on the Diocesan Commission on Ministry on Long Island, the Episcopal Ministries of Long Island Board of Directors, and was Rector of St. Margaret’s in Plainview, NY. While there, she also served President of the local interfaith clergy group. Before coming to Long Island, Jennifer served on Diocesan Council in Delaware. Jennifer has an M.Div. from Virginia Theological Seminary, a Master of Arts in Management from the University of Alabama, and a Bachelors from Duke University. Before ordination, Jennifer worked in the non-profit sector with a Food Bank and an affiliate of Habitat for Humanity. In addition to legislative experience at the General Convention level, and having served on the House of Deputies Congregational Vitality & Data-Driven Initiatives Legislative Committee, Jennifer brings a critical and creative eye to the experiences in the wider Church and our local Church. As a deputy to General Convention, she will offer a voice from the next generation of Church leadership.

The Rev. Charlie Bauer, Bruton Parish, Williamsburg

I find such hope in seeing the Church at work: people coming together to share their individual gifts and knowledge, all while discerning the voice of the Spirit. In offering my candidacy for the 2027 General Convention deputation, I bring the joys of my daily ministry, serving remarkable people across ages and experiences who join together in the love of God. From those joys, I see both the difficulties and great opportunities before us as followers of Jesus, living in a world filled with people hungry for authenticity and something more than the world can give. I serve as the Associate Rector for Christian Formation at Bruton Parish, Williamsburg and as Chaplain to Canterbury: the Episcopal Church at William & Mary. Within the Diocese, I serve on the Program, Budget, and Review Committee, the Credentials Committee, and assist with the Liturgical Committee. I have served as a clergy deputy to the past two General Conventions, including as head of our deputation and a member of the Title IV legislative committee in 2024. As the Episcopal Church envisions new ways to gather to do our shared work while emphasizing formation and fellowship, I would be honored to serve again as a clergy deputy to the 2027 General Convention.

The Rev. Charles Cowen, St. Andrew's, Norfolk

The Rev. Charles Lane Cowen serves as the rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Norfolk. In addition to his parish ministries, Charles finds great joy in working collaboratively and creatively with the wider church to imagine how God might be calling us to spread the Good News of Jesus in an ever-changing world. Charles has collaborated with Episcopal, interfaith, and civic partners to offer exciting liturgies, music offerings, and outreach projects. In the Diocese of Delaware, Charles served on the Commission on Ministry (COM), and in Southern Virginia he served on the Chanco Board and continues supporting the efforts at Chanco. Charles would like to serve as a deputy to the General Convention because he has a deep passion both for honoring our Episcopal/Anglican heritage and hearing how the Holy Spirit enlivens us to serve God and neighbor in new ways. Given his work on the COM, Charles believes the Church should dive deep into our Holy Scriptures, tradition, and history to find sustainable ways of being church in the future – paths that will require the collective wisdom and governance of the General Convention. Charles believes that deputies to General Convention should have deep understanding of our theology and history and a prayer life rooted in Holy Scripture. He hopes that his passion for these fields alongside his practical experience alongside lay leaders in various parishes bring a kind of leadership that can transform our Church through the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

The Rev. Canon Willis Foster, Diocese of Southern Virginia

I was a deputy at the 78th General Convention in Salt Lake City, Utah and at the 79th General Convention in Austin, Texas. Those experiences and the meetings leading up to those conventions deepened my knowledge of the inner workings of the national church. The experience taught me that I wasn't only representing the Diocese of Southern Virginia, but I was also concerned with the welfare of the whole Episcopal Church. Even though I am a cradle Episcopalian, I really didn't understand this reality until I had my pre-convention meeting with the deputies and the deputies of Color. It was in these meetings that I realized the critical nature of being a deputy. I bring over seventy years of being an Episcopalian, a little over fifteen years of ordained ministry and four years on the diocesan staff. I am a trainer in the Diocesan Church Development Institute (DCDI) and a facilitator in the Diocesan Racial Healing Workshop. I was the board chair of a nonprofit called "The Gathering" in Petersburg, VA. The purpose of this center is to work alongside the community to empower individuals and the community to thrive. The Gathering at Washington Street (The Gathering) is funded by a Church Development grant from the Virginia Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church (VAUMC). I'm still on this board. I am the Chairman of the Board for the Episcopal Project. The Episcopal Project is a non-profit whose mission is to help Episcopal churches, dioceses, and organizations preserve and protect their history for future generations.

The Rev. Canon Carla McCook, Diocese of Southern Virginia

I have held a variety of ministerial positions, both as a lay minister and as ordained clergy. In my time as clergy I have served not only in the parish as deacon and priest, but on the Standing Committees of the former Diocese of Milwaukee for the Rt. Rev. Steven Miller and of the Diocese of Southwestern Florida for the Rt. Rev. Dabny Smith and Rt. Rev. Douglas Scharf, serving in various rolls including president. I have served on diocesan staff in the former Diocese of Milwaukee for the Rt. Rev. Steven Miller as the Bishop's Assistant for Christian Formation and currently as Canon to the Ordinary for the Rt. Rev. Susan Haynes in the Diocese of Southern Virginia. My experience as both parish priest and diocesan staff has given me a deep appreciation for our Episcopal polity. I believe we have entered a new era for the Church and that the Church is being called to serve locally and globally with innovation, authenticity, and humility. I consider it a great honor to serve as one of the deputies to General Convention for the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia.

The Rev. Hector Sintim, St. Cyprian's, Hampton

The Reverend Dr. Hector Sintim is nominated for the position as Deputy to the General Convention. His impressive educational background, experience in counseling, leadership abilities, and organizational acumen make him an outstanding candidate for this role. Recognized for his dynamic personality, Rev. Dr. Sintim excels at building close relationships within his community and is both a motivational speaker and author. His extensive travels have informed his vision for the church, which emphasizes biblical values, nurturing love, spiritual growth, and impactful outreach. Rev. Dr. Sintim has a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology, Master of Divinity/Biblical Studies and Ph.D. in Philosophy and Apologetics. With 34 years of experience serving as a priest, counselor, and educator, Reverend Dr. Sintim has held numerous leadership roles, including chairing evangelism efforts across 18 churches under the Christian Council of Churches, Diocesan Spiritual Advisor to Cursio, and Diocesan Youth Director. He served on the Diocesan Council and Standing Committee under/with four Bishops including the Primate Micheal B. Curry in Episcopal Diocesan of North Carolina. His ecclesiastical appointments are very impressive. It includes precentor at St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral Church, rector at Corpus Christie Anglican Church, assistant rector at St. Ambrose Church in Raleigh, NC and priest-in-charge at St. Stephen's in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. As of August 2024, he serves as the priest-in-charge at St. Cyprian's Episcopal in Hampton, Virginia. His professional journey spans over two decades, including serving on WCC and AACC, working as a community chaplain, hospital chaplain, and counselor. Additionally, he taught as an adjunct assistant professor at St. Augustine College (Now St. Augustine University) and Shaw University School and Divinity Department, and now privately tutors students working on research and dissertations. His published works appear in the African Encyclopedic Review, with more books underway. Should he be elected as one of the Deputies to the General Convention, the Rev. Dr. Hector Sintim pledges to serve with compassion, wisdom, unwavering integrity, and steadfast leadership.

Lay Nominees, four to be elected.

Ms. Abigayle Cheney, Christ & St. Luke's, Norfolk

Abigayle "Abby" Cheney is a sophomore at Sewanee: The University of the South, studying American Studies and Environmental Humanities. Abby calls Norfolk, Virginia home, and when home attends Christ and St. Luke's Episcopal Church. Abby served on the Episcopal Youth Community Board for the Diocese of Southern Virginia from 2021 to 2024, being appointed as president of the board in her last year. As part of the EYC board, Abby served as the youth representative and voted on behalf of the diocese's youth at two Annual Councils. Abby attended General Convention 81 in 2024 as a youth representative of Providence III as part of the Official Youth Presences of the Episcopal Church. At Sewanee, Abby is involved with All Saints' Chapel in Sewanee through the University Choir and the School of Theology Choir. Abby has experience with church governance through attending Annual Council and General Convention and is passionate about youth and young adult representation in the diocese and the church. Abby would be honored to serve as a lay deputy for the diocese.

Mr. Herb Josey, St. Stephen's, Norfolk

I currently serve on the Vestry of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Norfolk, Virginia, and am a lifelong Episcopalian whose faith and service in the Church have been central to my life since childhood. Since 1972, I have been an active member of Episcopal congregations in New York and Virginia, serving in a range of lay ministries including acolyte, lay reader, Vestry member, and choir member. These roles have given me a strong grounding in parish life, worship, and shared lay leadership. My professional background brings extensive experience in governance, public accountability, and institutional decision-making. I served 28 years on active duty in the United States

Navy as a Public Affairs Officer, retiring in 2011. I then served for ten years with the Department of Homeland Security in External Affairs, retiring in October 2025. Throughout my career, I worked closely with senior leaders, managed complex issues, and represented organizations in high-visibility and sensitive environments, guided by ethical responsibility and respect for differing viewpoints. I seek election as a General Convention Deputy in order to serve the wider Church with care, preparation, and humility. I value the role of General Convention as a place of prayerful discernment, faithful governance, and shared witness. I believe my lifelong commitment to the Episcopal Church, combined with decades of leadership experience and collaborative service, prepare me to represent this Diocese faithfully and thoughtfully at General Convention.

Ms. Diana Moreland, Emmanuel, Virginia Beach

Diana Moreland is the Director of Christian Formation at Emmanuel Church in Virginia Beach. She is part of the Diocese's Task Force on Gun Violence and a Safe Church Trainer. She was a Lay Deputy to the General Convention from the Diocese in 2024, and was Chair of the Diocese CE-Net from 2021 to 2023. Diana is working on her PhD in rural congregational development, with a focus on Episcopal Canon law. She is an Episcopal Church Foundation Fellow. In her early twenties, Diana served as an Alternate/Deputy to General Convention from the Diocese of Arizona in 2009/2012. She was the secretary of the Standing Committee for Small Congregations for its last three years, from 2012 to 2015. In the midst of the Christian call to bring the Good News to the ends of the earth and our call as Christians to fight against injustice and to lift the marginalized, Diana has seen a need for the Church to reach out to these rural congregations that have been forgotten as an essential step in the Church's work. She has also seen the need within the Episcopal Church for an alternative way to measure health that does not leave vital congregations behind. Diana hopes, as a Deputy, to help the Episcopal Church make important decisions that will benefit the wider Episcopal Church and the congregations in the Diocese of Southern Virginia.

Ms. Pam Pringle, St. John's, Hampton

I have been an Episcopalian since childhood. I have always been an involved member of my church. As a teenager in Ireland I taught Sunday School and was the youth representative to The Dublin Synod for three years. Since moving to Virginia in 1999 I served on the Congregational Development Committee (10+ years), chairing the sub-committee that organized the Bishop's Days with Vestry and Clergy. I co-chaired the Clergy and Spouse Nag's Head retreat for 3 years. At the parish level I have served as a youth choir director, taught Sunday school, served on altar guild, participated in mission trips, served on the needlework guild, senior choir member, lay reader and chalice. I completed the 4-year EFM program. I chaired the Nominating/Search Committee for the 11th Bishop of this Diocese. I am currently the President of the Board for Chanco Retreat and Camp Center and am a trainer in the Thrive DCDI program for the diocese. I taught in the Luter School of Business at Christopher Newport University from 2001. From 2011 I was also the Assistant Director and Director in 2016 until my retirement at the end of 2017. I am married to Derek Pringle, an active retired priest in this Diocese.

We have three children and four grandchildren. I have a desire to see the episcopal church grow in strength. I believe I have skills and talents to offer. I have valued my experience and increased my understanding of the US Episcopal Church at the National level as a delegate at the shortened General Convention in 2022, and in 2024 serving on the Social Justice & United States Policy Legislative Committee. I believe I still have gifts to offer to serve as a delegate for 2027.

Mr. K. Chris Stephenson, St. Paul's Memorial Chapel, Lawrenceville

K. Chris Stephenson is a visionary lay leader and advocate for restorative justice within the Episcopal Church. A proud graduate of Saint Paul's College with a degree in Mathematics, Chris brings analytical precision and a deep personal connection to the institution he now leads. He currently serves as the Junior Warden for Saint Paul's Memorial Chapel and as a Lay Minister within the Diocese of Southern Virginia, bridging the gap between historic preservation and active ministry. A former military officer, Chris transitioned into the private sector as a successful business entrepreneur, where he honed his skills in organizational growth, financial stewardship, and market strategy. Nationally, he is recognized as the President of the Board of Trustees for the Saint Paul's Leadership Institute, spearheading the historic "Reimagining Saint Paul's College" initiative. This mission seeks to rebirth the legacy of the college, which was founded in 1888 by Archdeacon James Solomon Russell and remains a storied affiliate of the Episcopal Church's network of Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs). At the Diocesan level, Chris serves as the Co-chair of the Repairers of the Breach Committee. In this role, he has facilitated numerous Racial Healing Workshops, fostering a culture of truth-telling and reconciliation to transform the church's historic assets into sustainable centers for workforce development. Why I Seek This Position: I am seeking this position to continue the sacred work of "Repairing the Breach." As an alumnus of Saint Paul's, I am personally committed to ensuring that the mission started by Archdeacon James Solomon Russell—to empower and educate—continues in a modern context. I aim to leverage my background to transform our historic Episcopal-affiliated assets into economically vibrant hubs for workforce development. Qualifications: My qualifications are built on a unique triad of military discipline, entrepreneurial innovation, and ecclesiastical stewardship. My experience as an officer and a business owner allows me to manage complex transitions with tactical efficiency and a mission-first mindset. This is balanced by my track record in facilitating racial healing, which has equipped me with the diplomacy needed to bring diverse stakeholders—from church leadership to private investors—into alignment. Above all, I lead with the conviction that we must "detach from the end result and attach to God's Will," moving forward in love, faith, and the truth.
